English-9 GT Summer Reading Requirement
Memoirs from a White Star Line Passenger
A Night to Remember* by Walter Lord

Description of Assignment: You will complete this summer reading assessment after reading A Night to Remember. The assessment focuses on your ability to create a passenger who found him/herself aboard the RMS Titanic during its' historic maiden voyage. This passenger is created by completing information found on an actual White Star Line passenger ticket and further developed by writing a book of memoirs related to the events of April 10 – 15, 1912. Using an online research tool such as Google Images, you will collect pictures that will provide the basis for the memoirs. Your teacher will provide you with the first and last picture in the series. You will provide the five pictures that will link the two together logically. Finally, you will decide your character's fate and reveal it on the last page of his or her memoirs. When necessary, refer to your novel in order to include accurate details in your responses. For example, names of the essential crew, menu choices, forms of entertainment, or even, the weather that faithful night. Memoirs will be written in first person point of view. This assessment is due on September 24, 2019.

Side Note: Your teacher is not anticipating historical accuracy in the final copy of your passenger's memoirs, however, he/she is anticipating "historical appropriateness". Given that this event occurred in April 1912, it would be unrealistic to have your passenger texting, since the device to do so was not invented at this time. He/she reminds you that your "creative license" has been activated.
